We love encouraging the art of recycling in any form, but especially if it can add a bit of fun and colour to your day! Why not give old fabric scraps a new lease of life, by turning them into funky new textile accessories? A belt, a headband, a necklace, a bracelet – there are so many things you can make with upcycled fabric. Get creative, and have fun!

WHAT YOU NEED:

- Ribbon
- Assorted Fabrics
- Buttons
- Fabric Glue
- Scissors
CHOOSE your favourite fabrics.
We love to use leftover scraps from around the house, old clothes or other recycled materials.

FIND the perfect colour ribbon to use for the base of your accessory.

MEASURE your ribbon to size depending on what it will be used for - a headband, a belt, a bracelet, etc.

CUT your fabric into different sized circles.
We used zigzag scissors to add effect, and also help to stop fraying.

LAYER your shapes on top of one another.

GLUE your shapes together.

ADD buttons!

GLUE your material onto your ribbon using your fabric glue.

WEAR your accessory!
Tie it off around your wrist, waist or head. If your ribbon is too long, wrap it around and around until it fits.

GIVE YOUR OLD FABRICS A NEW LEASE OF LIFE!

To learn how to make more nice things, visit www.moomah.com/themagazine

http://moomah.com/themagazine/make-it-fabric-accessories